

Anticosti Island Will Be Kept From Foreign Hands

GOVERNMENT CONSIDERING TAKE ACTION

Information Received That Owners Negotiating With German Group

OTTAWA, May 27.—Anticosti Island, the huge, wooded territory at the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, will not fall into foreign hands, Prime Minister Mackenzie King indicated in the House of Commons Thursday.

The government is considering what action should be taken in view of negotiations reported between Consolidated Paper Company, owners of the island, and a German group. It has been in consultation with the government of Quebec and both governments are agreed it would be undesirable to permit the island to pass into foreign control.

IRIGES EXPROPRIATED
Mr. King made the statement after R. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, and J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, had urged the government to expropriate the island.

Mr. Bennett said he had looked into the position carefully and ascertained there was no question of the sale of the island, nominally to a foreigner.

Further, he had learned the fact of experts who visited the island recently were of "great interest" in Germany—especially as military and naval experts," and only one of them was a forestry expert.

CAUSED CONCERN
Certain things had happened in British Columbia in connection with the Great War which caused great concern when they occurred, Mr. Bennett said. It was found property had been acquired for timber purposes by a Canadian company owned by foreigners.

When the C.C.F. leader first suggested expropriation, Mr. King said the government could not go around expropriating all properties likely to fall into the hands of foreigners.

JOB FOR HIGH STUDENTS WILL BE CONSIDERED

CALGARY, May 27.—Plans for obtaining jobs in Calgary for local high school students, with the co-operation of professional and business men, will be considered at a conference here next Monday.

Calgary educationalists, business and professional men will attend the conference called for the purpose of aiding in vocational guidance work of Calgary students.

The purpose of the conference is to render greater assistance to students and to the Calgary citizens requiring their assistance said D. C. Bayne, school board secretary, who is handling arrangements for the conference of the young men's section of the Calgary board of trade.

Chicago Grain Market Gets Criticism

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The Commodity Exchange Commission, New Deal agency created in 1936 to police United States commodity markets, heard the Chicago board of trade criticized Thursday as an instrument of traders interested in keeping grain prices as low as possible, to the detriment of farmers.

The criticism was made by Irving Goldenstein, Chicago attorney for Cargill, Inc., a Minneapolis grain company, during oral arguments on a motion of the board to dismiss formal charges of downward "price manipulation" brought against it by the grain concern.

Radio License Collection By Vets Considered

OTTAWA, May 27.—A plan to force collection of radio license fees across Canada over to the war veterans has been considered, Hon. C. G. Power, pensions minister, told the House of Commons last night when estimates for veterans assistance was considered.

Smelters To Pay For Arbitration

OTTAWA, May 27.—Cost of the recent arbitration of claims by United States citizens for alleged damage by fumes from the smelter at Trail, B.C., will be borne by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Corporation, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons last night.

CODREANU IS SENT PRISON FOR TREASON

Pro-Fascist Leader in Rumania Is Found Guilty Of High Treason

BUCHAREST, May 27.—Cornel Codreanu, pro-Fascist leader of Rumania's Iron Guard, was sentenced early today to 10 years at hard labor for being convicted of high treason.

The court found him guilty on a number of counts and he was sentenced to prison terms on each, the terms to be served concurrently.

The sentences follow: For high treason, 10 years at hard labor; for conspiring to bring about the overthrow of the state, five years at hard labor; and for organization of armed groups with rebellious intent, eight years.

After serving his sentences he will be deprived of all civic rights for six years, the court ruled.

Codreanu's attorneys entered an appeal to the supreme military court. The appeal, however, will not delay Codreanu's prison term, which begins immediately.

British Labor Party Is Against Popular Front

By "DWIN JOHNSON" Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 27.—The national executive committee of the British Labor Party has definitely turned its back upon the so-called "Popular Front" movement.

In a party manifesto, the executive committee declares agitation for a new political combination, brands it as a menace to the unity and independence of the Labor party and school of its followers to walk along the high road which will ultimately lead to victory.

The membership of the Labor party deeply values its unity and independence," the manifesto declared.

JOKERS HAVE ROUGH SPORT HARMING CAR

DELIA, Alta., May 27.—Perhaps it was a "joke" but it didn't appear to Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, Alberta minister of health.

After he addressed a meeting at a district school house he found someone had let the oil out of the tires on his automobile, drained the gas tank and filled it with sand.

And then, he had to have the car towed 15 miles to the nearest garage at Delia.

National Unity Is Necessary Legion States

OTTAWA, May 27.—If Canada is to become a nation in fact as well as in name, national unity must be encouraged by strengthening of the central government, the Canadian Legion asserted Thursday.

United effort and high morale in the legion's work, were no less necessary for Canada in peace than in war, it declared in a submission before the Rowell Commission.

PREMIER HITS GANGING UP ON LIBERALS

Hon. W. J. Patterson Resents Invasion Of Alberta Socrads

SASKATOON, May 27.—Opposition groups in Saskatchewan were "ganging up on the Liberal provincial government, Premier W. J. Patterson declared in an election campaign speech given here last night in support of the two-member Saskatchewan riding.

The premier said the Social Credit "invasion" of Saskatchewan had set a precedent in Canadian politics which he believed unhealthy. Attacking the Alberta government's stand the provinces of Canada should be regarded as sovereign states, he said.

"We regard this attitude as disruptive of confederation. We contend that the constitution intended a strong national state," he said.

"Of the 'invasion,' he said: 'We recent this intrusion into our affairs. If Alberta had succeeded in Alberta, it would not have been necessary for him to invade Saskatchewan. We must forget petty issues, for the main issue confronting the electorate in this campaign is that of retaining confederation in the spirit it was intended.'

Opposition forces, the premier said, were attempting to elect a "jigger administration." In a period of stress and crisis such as existed today, the exercise of privilege, vanity and economy were essential to the welfare of Saskatchewan. The Liberal party had shown by its record its capability in giving sound and sane government, he contended.

Edmonton's Opportunity

Hon. Norman Rogers' announcement that the Dominion will make loans to municipalities with which to carry out self-liquidating projects marks a new and hopeful departure in policy. It is a direct and timely application of the idea of using the public credit "in terms of the public need." The broad meaning is that a municipality desirous of creating a revenue-earning enterprise need no longer be blocked by inability to secure the money money save at interest rates which would be prohibitive.

Welcome as the announcement must be everywhere, it is of particular significance to Edmonton. This city has a long-deferred housing project on the agenda, which can now be undertaken. The project falls in the self-liquidating class, since there is no doubt that the houses will be sold or rented readily on terms which would carry and eventually liquidate the debt.

This scheme did not originate simply in a desire to make room for unemployed men. It is the answer, and the only answer in sight, to the problem of housing the rapidly growing population of the city. Edmonton is overcrowded to the point where sanitary and sanitary regulations are out of consideration. People are existing in conditions comparable to rabbits in a warren. The city is in arrears a thousand additional houses at least, to say nothing of old houses which should be replaced. Private enterprise is not meeting the need. The condition is growing more hopeless year after year.

The only alternative is a civic housing scheme.

While the provincial legislature did not give the city as complete powers as it sought for undertaking such a scheme, it did authorize the city to form a house-building company, to buy stock in the company, and to thus use the company in accepting loans from any source with which to carry out the object. There is nothing therefore to prevent the city proceeding forthwith to organize such a company, to acquire all the stock if necessary, and apply for a federal housing loan in the name of the company.

This is the opportunity Edmonton has been waiting for, and there should be no hesitation or delay in seizing it. The houses are needed. The unemployed need work. The city needs more property-owning taxpayers. The scheme will pay for itself. At the more unemployed men can be set at building houses, the less the city, the province and the Dominion will have to pay out for relief.

Those "National" Deficits

Canadian taxpayers are told without ceasing that the "railway problem" is the gravest problem with which the Dominion is faced. Just now they are being told this with peculiar fervor, by witnesses before the railway committee of the Senate, by a group of newspapers in which the Montreal Gazette takes rank, and by propagandist literature circulated by and on behalf of certain political parties in real and Toronto who proclaim their purpose to get their income taxes reduced. All this as part of the campaign to bring about the "unification" of the two railway systems.

The "railway problem" of course consists, so far as the public are concerned, in the fact that parliament has voted millions of dollars every year to make up the difference between the cost of maintaining and operating the National Railways and the revenue the system earns. This year the vote is around $40,000,000; half of which, by the way, comes from the public treasuries through the payment of provincial and municipal taxes. The cost to the taxpayers this year will be somewhere around the $20,000,000 mark. This annual deficit is the drain which, it is represented, may ruin the country unless it is stopped.

There is another fact, however, to which little attention is not called by these deficit alarmists. It was stated by Mr. S. W. Fairweather, economist of the National Railways, in his evidence before the Senate committee. The official record runs as follows, Senator Sinclair being the questioner at the time—

Q.—The rates you charge for carrying wheat are not lower than the rates allowed by the Board of Railway Commissioners?

A.—Oh, no, but they are the lowest rates on which agricultural products move in any country in the world. I think I am correct in saying they are just about 50 per cent of the rates in effect in similar territory in the United States for the same grades of wheat. I am not complaining about that. I think that is perhaps a wise arrangement.

Q.—To some degree it is a competitive rate?

A.—No, sir, not in this sense, because it has to move to water. The rates to which I refer are all-rail rates. For instance, there is the rate to Chicago in the United States, or New Orleans or Galveston or Portland, and in Canada the rates to Vancouver, and the rates to the lakes or to the Hudson Bay terminals.

Against the money parliament has to vote to make up the deficit on the National system is to be placed the fact that wheat from the prairie farms moves to water at lower cost than wheat grown in the United States, in Argentina, or in Australia. In effect the deficit-ops is a subsidy to the Railways, in return for which wheat rates are lower than they otherwise could be and lower than they are in these competing countries.

Without this concession in freight rates, the Canadian grower could not compete on even terms with his rivals in these countries. Because he is located farther from the seaboard, and wheat production must cease to be the important item it is in the national economy. These are facts the taxpayer should think about when he is told the country is being driven to bankruptcy because part of the freight charges on the wheat crop is paid as a deficit-note.

Editorial Notes

A bill to further safeguard the liberty of the press has been introduced in the parliament of Great Britain. Living close to Germany and Italy, people in the old lands understand what a controlled press leads to.

Of course, having been given only a skimpy supply of moisture for several years, southern Alberta is entitled to plenty of rain this summer. But it is to be hoped the elements will not forget there are other parts of the province where water is also necessary to the well-being of crops and gardens.

Fifteen miles of the unfinished 31-mile section of the Jasper-Lake Louise highway will be built this summer, and the road completed next year or the year after. No sign yet of any plan to build the missing link from Jasper westward and open a through drive highway from Edmonton to the coast. Ottawa and Victoria should be kept mindful of that project. Seemingly a good deal of reminding will be needed.

When They Tax They Tax

It's not notions we'd be putting into the head of Mr. Charles Dunning, and he about to bring in his budget, yet it is worth wondering whether he's noticed those comparative tables of British and Canadian income taxes that have been compiled by The Canadian Press, following the British budget.

According to The Canadian Press, the thing works out like this: A Canadian married man living with his wife and one child and having an income of $2,500 pays the Dominion Government an income tax of $5.

A British married man living with his wife and one child and having an income of $2,500 pays the British Government an income tax of $92.

An American married man living with his wife and one child and having an income of $2,500 pays the United States Government nothing.

Here is how The Canadian Press figures the comparative positions out in the case of higher incomes:

Income	U.K. Tax	Canada Tax	U.S. Tax
$3,000	200.62	10.00	Not tax
5,000	649.62	10.00	8.4
10,000	1,479.62	10.00	16.8
25,000	3,729.62	345.90	23.81

It is argued, of course, and arguable, that Canadians pay more than the British in other respects, provincial income taxes, in some cases heavy municipal taxes, an eight per cent sales tax; heavier excise and customs taxes. On top of that, finally, is our Canadian climate, demanding more in the way of fuel and clothing costs, and more perhaps for housing.

Nevertheless, and despite much we've read abroad to the contrary, we think that the British do most heavily taxed people. Also, and not to be overlooked, the income tax seems to hurt more—Ottawa Journal.

The Major Issue

The invasion of Saskatchewan by an external government in an effort to subjugate this province and impose its will on the government upon it, in a way somewhat similar to that by which Hitler has imposed his will and demands on Austria, is the major issue of the day. It is a question of whether the Government of Saskatchewan, under the leadership of Mr. Diefenbaker, will stand up to the demands of administration. It places it in the class of a content over the fundamental principle of government, the right of the people to choose their own government, political as well as economic. By its entry into Saskatchewan and its fight against the Government of Saskatchewan, the Government of Alberta has created this fight.

The question that is being fought out on the platform of Saskatchewan is whether it should be decided at the polls on June 6, or more than a question of whether the present Government shall continue or whether it should be succeeded by another Government carrying on the same policies on the same basic principles. It is a question of whether or not these basic principles shall continue to operate.

So when Mr. Diefenbaker devotes his time and energy to criticizing the methods and details of administration, no matter how justified his criticism may or may not be, he is not touching upon the real question at all. And it may even be that he is giving aid and comfort to those who have invaded Saskatchewan. It is Mr. Diefenbaker's right to spend his time discussing details of administration and method of the present Government. Indeed they should be discussed. But they should be kept in proportion and he cannot ignore the major issue. He must declare his position on the question of whether he wishes to continue government on the same fundamental basis as heretofore in both political and economic matters or prefers to have a different system imposed by Alberta on Saskatchewan. And he should do so now rather than wait several years until a condition may have arisen in Saskatchewan similar to that in Alberta—Saskatoon Star-Phoenix.

Delay Caused It

The demonstration of transient single unemployed, which were to have been expected, have taken place in Vancouver.

They are undoubtedly not likely to create sympathy for the men cause, and in every way to be deprecated.

But the reason for them is not far to seek. And that reason should be made clear. They are the direct result of Federal Government inactivity, of a general delay in dealing with the unemployment problem which leaves the transients now in Vancouver a prey to the vagaries of the weather.

The Vancouver Sun has said again and again, emphasized and reiterated, that the problem of the transients should be settled with a nationwide work program.

Nothing has been done. The men's problems have been emphasized to Ottawa by the promise of Mr. Pearson to give them transportation to the cities to which they belong.

Nothing has been done. There is a march towards Ottawa of the unemployed, surely a march towards less to the Federal authorities?

Nothing has been done. No new demonstrations, to bring the name of Vancouver into disrepute, which it should not have to carry; the demonstrators are the city's responsibility, although officials and citizens have done all in their power to alleviate the men's distress.

It is not good enough for Ottawa to ignore this problem.

Government delay has brought about the "Raspberry Whip." Whip the whites of two or more eggs until stiff and sweeten with a small amount of honey. Drain the sugary juice from a can of red raspberries, and combine the berries and juice with the stiffly beaten whites. Whip to break up the berries. Hang lightly into tall sherbet glasses and place on ice until ready to serve. Garnish each glass with a dash of whipped cream and a few berries.

Any kind of fruit whip may be prepared in the same manner.

Questions And Answers

QUESTION—Mylee O. inquires: "What should I do if I think I have trouble with the thyroid gland?"

ANSWER—Your question is somewhat indefinite inasmuch as you give me no hint as to what type of thyroid derangement may possibly exist. You might be suffering from a simple goiter, an exophthalmic goiter or to hyperthyroidism. I am under the impression that you have not yet consulted a doctor and are not sure that the thyroid is affected. I suggest that the best thing to do is to see a doctor near you.

QUESTION—B. T. wants to know: "Do you think that the canned pumpkin is as good as the fresh?"

ANSWER: I often suggest that when the family enjoys pumpkin, that the canned variety is used. It is more convenient and it is cheaper and it seems to me that this may be the cheapest way to use it. Also, of course, the canned variety is available all year.

QUESTION—Marty T. asks: "What can I do to feel better, have a headache, and notice little spots of stomach gas whenever I miss my lunch?"

ANSWER: The chief cause is an irritated or inflamed stomach. However, it may be due to a habit of not eating when hungry according to habit and meal-time is therefore more regulated by the clock than by actual hunger for food.

A Question of Manners

All the laws in the world cannot reach the basic cause of accidents. But accidents will continue to be a commonplace feature of modern traffic if and when drivers take their manners from the driving room to the highway, when fact is impressed upon both motorists and pedestrians that accidents are not the act of Providence but the outcome of human error—Ottawa Journal.

Impotent

Ironically enough it was just a year to the day after Italy's completed annexation of Ethiopia that the League of Nations passed the last chapter of its failure and feeble efforts to save the East African empire the clock it once idealistically hoped to hold over the weak against the strong and aggressive.

When Italy moved against Ethiopia, the League passed the stamp of the aggressor upon it. No less than 52 nations and 160 million small, joined in sanctions against the stronger nation. This weak League obligingly allowed France and England to refuse to recognize the conquest. It had no other alternative. It had to admit its efforts to keep "aggressor" nations in line had failed—Boston Post.

England and Eire

It is mutual goodwill that is important, and it is more so ever in the days of Hitler. Without it, Britain's creation of the treaty ports would be dangerous; with it, the entraining to Eire of her own people and her own goods and services, a circumstance has made this bold step possible and desirable. Eire wants neither Fascism nor Communism, and recognizes that an Irish Government, defenseless against the interests of the world, will be averting a threat from that direction to the people of Britain. In the past, Irishmen used to say, "God's gift to Eire is her neutrality." Now it is realized Britain's difficulty is Eire's danger. It is not too much to say that Eire's future, and the future of the British Empire for the new Anglo-Irish friendship—Toronto Telegram.

Editor, Bulletin: Please give me space in your column to comment on the address by Hon. E. C. Manning and Hon. W. A. Fallow, which appeared in the Edmonton Bulletin of the 23rd inst.

I thought it was a magnificent appeal to those of us who "saw our bread by the sweat of the brow."

"Forgotten Men": Yes, there are many of them, several different classes, and a great many today are struggling for an existence who were a few years back in fairly good circumstances. But the abuse of our democratic structure which deprives us of the buying power to move the products of our soil and industry to the major cause.

Business drew up on the first Sunday and deposited their loads. Crowds gathered at the entrances. Attempts were made to take the show of the buildings over the top of the exhibition, but the large number of exhibition building closed almost in deserted avenues and gardens.

And so it is going to be, apparently, until the exhibition closes in October. Periodic and periodic have been presented but the committee chairman, Mr. J. E. Norris, is concerned the committee members to see that Scotland shall continue to stand with the exhibition.

I INTEND to see that exhibition. I am quite sure of the best passage. I am quite sure of the best passage. I am quite sure of the best passage. I am quite sure of the best passage.

Hot and Bothered For Ways to Remain Cool?

By ALICIA HART
Rule No. 1 for keeping fairly cool and as attractive looking as possible during the summer months is: Don't discuss the weather.

Try to remember that the cooler you look, the cooler you'll feel. Don't discuss the weather. You won't go around growling about the heat, running your hands through your hair, or shouting at your throat with your blouse, and so on. A generous dose of pink is one of the best antidotes for torrid weather.

Then, too, it's a good idea to plan your summer wardrobe with an eye to keeping cool. One gets dark clothes for town, of course but there can be ever so many black, blue, and white, light-weight prints with dark backgrounds, dark velvets and other textures are ideal for the city.

In the suburbs and in the country, wear simply-cut, well-designed washables. Very fine cotton linings is something else to consider.

Whether you are married or not, try to achieve a scrubbed look. Give up mascara and eye-shade during daytime hours at least. Thoroughly clean your face and put on fresh makeup several times a day.

Take a warm, soapy bath at night and as many showers as you manage during the day. Keep white collars and cuffs, white shoes, gloves and so on, perfectly clean.

Don't let dread of the discomfort of sitting under the dryer keep you from making regular appointments with the hairdresser. One needs a shampoo even often during summer.

When Virginia Verrill was living in her own home town, Hollywood, the movie picture studio would have nothing to do with her. She came to New York and became a successful singer. From the movie men were battling for her. Now, she commutes between Hollywood and New York.

She can keep both contracts, radio and screen.

Her mother, however, is cut down the length of time you have to spend under the dryer, have the operator cut your hair with water instead of heavy sticky wave-set lotion. Or with one of the perfume high fashions. Of the constant use of water, these stimulate the scalp and lightly perfume the hair.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

ONE of the strange phenomena of our time is the frequency with which husbands and wives kill each other. It used to be the rarest of crimes, but now it has become so common that we can't pick up a newspaper without reading a story about a husband who has taken a pot shot at the woman he loves to cherish until death parts them, or a wife who has taken a pot shot at the husband who has taken a pot shot at the woman he loves to cherish until death parts them.

Apparently marriage has become the most hazardous adventure in which only one can emerge and only suited to the foolhardy who desire "to live dangerously," as the modern novelists may explain why wedding bells do not ring out as often as they formerly did. The timid and those who want to live to ripe old age are afraid to touch it.

It is an appalling situation and one that can do little to boom the holy ether. It is appalling to think that one's mate may be a potential assassin, nor does it add to the peace and confidence of life to have to wonder when one goes to bed whether one will wake up in this world or the next.

Nor does there seem any sense in all these homicides in these days of easy divorce. It is downright superfluous to resort to murder, which is a money affair any way you do it, in order to get rid of a life partner for whom one has lost one's taste when the same result may be readily accomplished by the husband alleging to the court that he is suffering from insanity and the wife alleging to the court that she is suffering from insanity.

Of course, it cannot be denied that there are moments when even the most devoted husbands and wives are led, as the defense always claims he or she did in murder trials, when they feel they have nothing left to their best beloved and who are only saved from crime by the grace of God.

Nor can we deny that many a time when we have seen a poor, down-trodden, bruised man, suffering his wife's abuse, who has wondered why he did not stop her slapping by choking her. And many a time when we have listened to a big, bullying man, a terror of a cooing, overworked drudge of a wife, and we have thought that the man was a turn of mind, or because he had bought a new hat or a new suit, or because he had bought a new hat or a new suit, or because he had bought a new hat or a new suit.

Behind the husband and wife killings is one fact that we do not realize—that maybe husbands and wives themselves do not realize—that it is but all married people have a sort of a secret account against each other in their memories. They don't make a tally of it, but it is there. They pay it over, and the tally of the other party thinks that it has been forgotten and forgiven.

But this is not the case. In the husband's mind, and in the wife's mind, the little cruelties, the little injuries, the little humiliations, the little tyrannies, the selfishness, the unkind words, all infestual in themselves, soiling up added to day by day, until they make an unbearable figure. Then comes the moment when some little thing, a man's or woman's manner, or the average man's and the average woman's, or the average man's and the average woman's, or the average man's and the average woman's.

No other two people in the world can make each other so miserable, or do each other such deadly harm as can a husband and wife. No other two people can hate each other with such consuming hatred, and yet they kill each other. And it is because people have control now than they used to have that they do it.

Two tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 2 or 3 cooking apples, 1 cup flour, 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

One cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Debunker

According to Harold Lamb's recent book on George Kipling, Persians of Omar's time never recognized him as a great poet, or as a poet at all. In fact, he himself did not even know he was. To those who lived in his day he was a famous astronomer and known especially because he won and then lost the favor of a Sultan. It was about 100 years later that his fame became international.

PRODUCTS TAX HARSHNESS LESS MAYNARD SAYS

Minister Says Purpose Of Address To Correct Misconceptions

Referring some of the "errors and misconceptions" circulated in connection with the provincial production tax, Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, in an address delivered here on Thursday afternoon stated that this tax "without doubt, creates a great deal less hardship than the present tax on land."

Mr. Maynard was assisted in his address by Hon. Soli R. B. Phillips, minister of provincial revenue. The address was an explanation of the production tax.

Mr. Low contended that "everybody realizes that the present system of land tax is not fair, and to recognize the principle of taxation according to ability to pay."

Complete text of the address is as follows:

TAX DIFFICULTIES

Mr. Low: In a previous address, Mr. Maynard spoke to you of the difficulties encountered in the department of municipal affairs in the levying and collection of taxes. He endeavored to bring to light, on the very serious situation which exists in the administration of municipal services due to the present system of taxation we know as land taxation.

He reminded you that in a land so blessed with natural wealth and resources, people as a whole are ignorant as to what is the true situation as we know it is entirely unnecessary, as like all other parts of the financial machine, it does not reflect the facts.

But he also stated that as long as taxation was necessary to maintain the municipal districts and municipal districts to carry on, a redistribution was a necessary humane method of raising the necessary money to maintain services.

It was pointed out that under the present system, the demand of the farmer not a portion of his real wealth, out money. And as you know, a farmer does not grow money, only the banks do that. So today, when a farmer has a surplus of his crop for any reason whatever, he is still expected to pay taxes.

PENALTY ON POVERTY

This ridiculous system forces a penalty on poverty. In other words, if you are growing this year's crop to pay last year's taxes, that is not a fair system. It is a penalty on poverty. Only a return to the simple method of taxing a portion of the real wealth produced, and not taxing according to ability to pay, can give us the true reflection of the facts.

It was for the purpose of doing away with this unjust system of taxing land irrespective of the income derived from it, that Mr. Maynard sponsored at the last session of the Legislature the "Production Tax," and I have the honor to say that Mr. Maynard to give you some further explanation of this proposal.

RESTER POSITION

I feel that one who this proposal is clearly understood by the people, it will be in a position to state its soundness and determine whether they wish to give it approval or not.

George Washington, the great demagogue, once said that a man should be devised which are not more or less inconvenient and unpleasant.

We do not claim that this proposed tax on production is perfect in all respects, but we do maintain that it is the most convenient and the least unpleasant of any that may be imposed, and without doubt creates a great deal less hardship than the present tax on land.

ABILITY TO PAY

At the outset, however, it would be no different, if not practically impossible, to put into operation a proposal of this nature perfect in all respects and which would be made in taking according to the principle of ability to pay.

Mr. Low: Surely, Mr. Maynard, everybody realizes that the present system of land tax utterly fails to recognize the principle of taxation according to ability to pay.

Mr. Maynard: Quite right, Mr. Low. Under the present method of taxation, if a farmer derives no income from his land, he is still expected to pay taxes. Being unable to pay, he starts accumulating arrears of taxes, and he is liable to lose his farm for non-payment of these arrears of land taxes.

True, the government has never confiscated any resident producer's land for non-payment of taxes. But the arrears continue to pile up, until the farmer with the land has no money in the staggering sum of $1,740,000.00 owing in tax arrears in the fiscal

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Break For Tebo
Pasha Bey
Turkish Topics

of the things that Jack Tebo has never got from the fight game is a lucky break at least not until this week, when the sudden-in-jerk Westbrook gave him the Freshie-Chester a chance to step on a headline but here June 7 against Westbrook. It is a step that may mark the turning of the tide that Tebo has been bucking since he started putting leather for a living.

To begin with, Tebo fought Epperson to a draw some eight months ago. Jack made the mistake then of starting his major offensive too late in the fight. He made a mistake. He is confident that time he can take the classy colored battler from Chicago by starting his heavy artillery early in the engagement. The first he fought Epperson, Tebo was far from being at his best. Now he is.

However, the major break Tebo is getting is Premier Epperson's promise to give him the Dominion championship bout on June 11. This is a fight that he can beat Epperson. This is a shot at seemed completely lost when Westbrook out-pointed him. There are a good many fans, though, who feel that Tebo is a pretty good lad to represent the west. They are convinced that if Tebo is started firing his thunder at Westbrook in the 10th round instead of the eighth he would have won.

Tebo is a type of fighter who should never take more than a killer's chance feeling out an opponent. He is not a power-hitter as the scribes are wont to say. The sooner he starts bludgeoning his opponents, the better his chances are of winning. He is training now at Fairview and will be in work in position, off with sparring partners and heavy going with the same mistake he made against Westbrook. He is confident that time he can take the classy colored battler from Chicago by starting his heavy artillery early in the engagement. The first he fought Epperson, Tebo was far from being at his best. Now he is.

Pasha Pays a Visit

Last night Pasha Bilal Bey, one of Turkey's toughest men, dropped in at the office. He was escorted by Promoter Mike Cutcher, for he will wrestle tonight at the Empire theatre against an infidel Montreal named Don Ferguson. The Bey was darning in a red, red, baggy pants, red and yellow sweater. He was also freshly from the Grand-Cleveland game—the first basketball game he had seen. The Pasha was visibly disappointed. To a fellow of his rank the game would be slightly improved if the two officials with the side didn't discourage rough play so effectively. He likes his games hot and tough, but admits that maybe today's arena isn't just the place for girls to indulge in.

There have been reports of Turks in the wrestling game who were nearer to Turkey than the New York waterfront, but the Bey from the Grand-Cleveland game—the first basketball game he had seen. The Pasha was visibly disappointed. To a fellow of his rank the game would be slightly improved if the two officials with the side didn't discourage rough play so effectively.
